Social Research & Practice and Education Ltd.

Dear Nicole,

I hope this newsletter finds you well. For me, the longer daytime hours make a huge difference to my general wellbeing, and I am truly excited to see summer coming...

This week I am largely sharing the registration links for our next three seminars on ethical issues. However, in the background we are still working on the details for the ethics conference, the proposal for an edited book on ethics, a workshop on Practice As Research, and as a new initiative a chapter about social fiction writing. Please, email Nicole Brown if you are interested in any of this and/or if you have further ideas you would like us to consider.

Our next seminar will be on the 26 April 2023 at 1pm UK time with Dr Jo Collins, Dr Alison Finch and Áine McAllister. Register for this panel discussion on the practicalities and practice of ethics in research with vulnerable participants and sensitive topics via Eventbrite. The session on the 3 May at 2pm UK time with Dr Alison Fox focussing on Ethical guidelines for educational research in a changing world is also open for registration via Eventbrite. And on the 17th May at 11am UK time Prof John Potter and Dr Michelle Cannon will be discussing the ethical challenges they experienced with The Play Observatory project - and online research project with children. Tickets also via Eventbrite.

The Social Fiction Writing group will meet on the 10 May at 2pm UK time. If you're interested to find out more and/or to join, please email Nicole Brown. If you're interested to find out more about the Poetry As Research group and/or to join, please email Áine McAllister.

As always if you are interested in finding out more about the plans of the Practice As Research network, if you would like to share your ideas, and/or you would like to get involved in any other way, please, email Nicole Brown, I am always excited to hear from members.

If you missed a previous session, please, check out the PAR YouTube channel or the PAR Buzzsprout channel for the recordings.

The Practice As Research network with its resources is free and always will be, but it does of course incur costs to run and to keep it running. If you use it and benefit, enjoy it and would like to keep it going, please, consider leaving something in the tip jar. Thank you!

Wishing you a very good week ahead, until the next time...

Nicole
