

Dr Nicole Brown

Social Research & Practice and Education Ltd.

Dear Nicole,

I hope this message finds you well, and that wherever you are the weather and dark hours are not getting to you too much.

The video and audio recording of our first Practice As Research seminar for this academic year is now available at "How do we do Practice As Research", as well as at YouTube, Buzzsprout and your preferred podcast platform.

On the 17th November at 1pm UK time Dr Beth Curtis will present "Teacher-researcher-playwright: Navigating practice as research", and on the 4th December at 2pm UK time Bernice Shanicky will deliver her talk "Sticky, Sick, Stuck: Researching equity in the Canadian public arts". Please register on the relevant pages to avoid disappointment, and check back on the PAR events page for up-to-date info on further dates and details.

It is also with great pleasure that I announce a book contract with Ellipsis Imprints. This book is a creative anthology about disabled academics' lived experiences.

If you have any ideas for speakers and/or sessions or publications, please, email Nicole Brown. I am always excited to hear from network members.

Future seminars:

17 November at 1 pm UK time: Beth Curtis - Teacher-researcher-playwright

4 December at 2 pm UK time: Shanice Bernicky - Research creation

9 January at 2 pm UK time: Lucy Harding - Entanglements

Recent recordings:

- The panel discussion "How do we do Practice as Research" with Dr Theo Bryer, Annie Davey, and Dr Chris Rhodes.

- Professor John Potter and Dr Michelle Cannon on the complex and unprecedented ethical challenges associated with The Play Observatory project.

The Practice As Research network with its resources is free and always will be, but it does of course incur costs to run and to keep it running. If you use it and benefit, enjoy it and would like to keep it going, please, consider leaving something in the tip jar.

Thank you!

Nicole
